William Renten & Frank Greenwood:

On the morning of January 25th, William Renten, First Assistant Chief of the Riverhead Fire Department, Washington Engine Co.#2, alongside fellow honoree Frank Greenwood of Ever-Ready Engine Co. #3, caught sight of a sudden blaze emanating from a house down the street from where they were repairing a local road. With zero hesitation and unchallenged bravery, the two men instantly rushed towards the house, yelling to bystanders to call 911. Without safety equipment, and braving fire and smoke, the two men pulled one resident from the building. Upon seeing another in danger through the second-floor window, they rushed back inside and rescued the trapped woman by traversing smoke clogged stairs to get her to safety. With stout hearts, quick-thinking, and firm will, Mr. Renten and Mr. Greenwood saved the lives of two trapped souls and highlighted the very best characteristics of local heroes.

Bill Gorga:

On Valentine's Day 2023, Bill Gorga, a retired marine engineer from East Marion was out shopping for a Valentine's Day present for his wife Stephanie when the running car in front of him took off without the owner of the vehicle. Mr. Gorga was then approached by the owner of the SUV, who told him that her grandchild was still in the vehicle. Mr. Gorga urged the grandmother to jump in his truck and the two of them proceeded to follow the carjacker. Through his actions, Mr. Gorga was able to help in the apprehension of the suspect and reunited the toddler with its grandmother.

“Today’s Liberty Medal Ceremony recognizes the valor and selfless actions of our fellow Long Islanders—citizens who rose to the occasion to help strangers in their time of need. We thank them for their courage and willingness to take action, despite the risk to their own safety,” concluded Senator Palumbo.
