State Senator Gustavo Rivera on the End of the 2023-2024 Legislative Session

GUSTAVO RIVERA June 22, 2023

| ISSUE: END OF SESSION

“The Senate Majority passed courageous legislation that will empower our communities to thrive, not just survive, despite an unusual legislative year. We secured significant victories this session, including passing Coverage for All, implementing overdue increases for Medicaid reimbursement rates, expanding our State’s lead poisoning prevention measures, championing historic policies to protect our environment and health, and investing in accessible childcare and resources to support New York families. We’re focusing on making investments that benefit working class communities and addressing systemic injustices, critical to our progress as a State.”

“As Chair of the Senate Health Committee, I am proud to have passed my Coverage For All bill in the Senate. However, I am incredibly disappointed that we could not seal the deal in the Assembly and give undocumented New Yorkers the opportunity to access proper healthcare. Another missed opportunity, which has been an unfortunate pattern this year. Despite this setback, I will continue to champion the New York Health Act to overhaul our broken healthcare system, my Safer Consumption Services Act, which will open Overdose Prevention Centers in places that need them, and the last bill in my legislative package to end medical debt. We must continue elevating our community’s voices to ensure we are building a more equitable and fairer New York. The work continues,” said State Senator Gustavo Rivera.
