LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION memorializing Governor Andrew M. Cuomo to proclaim September 2013, as Prostate Cancer Awareness Month in the State of New York, in conjunction with National Prostate Cancer Awareness Month

WHEREAS, The State of New York takes great pride in recognizing serious diseases by proclaiming official months to increase awareness of such concerns, which affect thousands of New Yorkers; and

WHEREAS, It is the sense of this Legislative Body to memorialize Governor Andrew M. Cuomo to proclaim September 2013, as Prostate Cancer Awareness Month in the State of New York, in conjunction with National Prostate Cancer Awareness Month; and

WHEREAS, While great strides have been made in the battle against prostate cancer, Prostate Cancer Awareness Month is committed to educating people in the United States, including health care providers, about prostate cancer and early detection strategies, which is crucial to saving the lives of men and preserving and protecting families; and

WHEREAS, Prostate cancer is a substantial health problem in the State of New York and throughout the United States; it is the second leading cause of cancer-related deaths among American men; and

WHEREAS, The State of New York has an average of 17,090 prostate cancer diagnoses per year, and an average of 1,610 deaths from prostate cancer each year; and

WHEREAS, One out of every six men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer in their lifetime; prostate cancer can remain symptomless for years; there is often no way to detect prostate cancer in its early stages except through specific tests done by a trained professional; and

WHEREAS, The most clearly established risk factors for prostate cancer are age, race, family history, and high-fat diets; more than 65 percent of all prostate cancers are diagnosed in men over the age of 65, and African-American males suffer a prostate cancer incidence rate up to 60 percent higher than White males and are nearly 2.5 times more likely to die from the disease; conversely, Asian men who live in Asia have the lowest risk; and

WHEREAS, There are no noticeable symptoms of prostate cancer while it is still in the early stages, making screening critical; and

WHEREAS, Screening by both a digital rectal examination (DRE) and a prostate specific antigen (PSA) blood test can diagnose the disease in its early stages, increasing the chances of surviving more than five years to nearly 100 percent, while only 33 percent of men survive more than five years if diagnosed during the late stages of the disease; and

WHEREAS, The observance of Prostate Cancer Awareness Month has contributed to nearly 60 percent of new cases being localized and potentially curable, indicating a dramatic increase in awareness among the general population about the importance of early detection, benefiting millions of men and helping to save thousands of lives; now, therefore, be it
