LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION commemorating the 200th Anniversary of the Town of Cherry Creek, New York

WHEREAS, It is the intent of this Legislative Body to honor and commemorate the proud and distinguished histories of the people and communities which comprise the noble body of this great Empire State; and

WHEREAS, Attendant to such concerns, and in full accord with its long-standing tradition, this Legislative Body is justly proud to commemorate the 200th Anniversary of the settlement of the Town of Cherry Creek, New York; and

WHEREAS, Joseph M. Kent built the first home in Cherry Creek in 1815 for his wife and seven children; it was located on what was originally known as lot nine; and

WHEREAS, The Town of Cherry Creek was given its name by its second settler, Joshua Bentley Jr., a surveyor for the Holland Land Company, when he cut a red cherry sapling and drove it into the ground to mark the township center; and

WHEREAS, In 1819, the first school, a log cabin with a fireplace for heat, was erected, and Reuben Cheney was named its first teacher; and

WHEREAS, William Kilburn operated the first sawmill in the town, opened in 1823, eventually adding a shop to produce spinning wheels and chairs; and

WHEREAS, The CHERRY CREEK MONITOR became the first newspaper printed in the town on June 30, 1883; the MONITOR would later be purchased by Charles Schults, publisher of the PINE VALLEY NEWS, who combined the papers into the CHERRY CREEK NEWS and continued publication for 16 years; and

WHEREAS, By 1900, Cherry Creek was a bustling community, full of churches, schools, grocery and meat markets, factories for cheese and butter, a canning factory, a milk plant, an iron foundry, and more; and WHEREAS, Among its notable residents, the town was the birthplace of Egburt E. Woodbury, who served as New York State Attorney General from 1915 to 1917 and Ozra Amander Hadley, Acting Governor of the State of Arkansas from March 1871 to January 1873; and

WHEREAS, Under the able leadership of Supervisor William Young and Town Councilmen James Abbey, Pete Smallback, Larry Johnson and Mark Mansfield, the citizens of the Town of Cherry Creek proudly celebrate this long and vibrant history, and look forward to its future; and

WHEREAS, It is the intent of this Legislative Body to publicly recognize and commemorate milestones in the history of communities, both large and small, in this great Empire State; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That this Legislative Body pause in its deliberations to commemorate the 200th Anniversary of the Town of Cherry Creek; and be it further

RESOLVED, That copies of this Resolution, suitably engrossed, be tran-
