October marks Breast Cancer Awareness Month and Senator Martin Malavé Dilan (D-Brooklyn) is partnering with the Adelphi New York Statewide Breast Cancer Hotline & Support Program to remind women about the importance of early detection.

“I hope this month women will take the time to schedule an appointment for a mammogram,” said Senator Dilan. “By calling New York State’s official toll-free breast cancer hotline, women can ask trained volunteers questions about breast cancer. They can also find out how to get a low-cost or free mammogram.”

A project of the Adelphi University School of Social Work on Long Island, New York’s breast cancer hotline has been helping women for 29 years.

To find a nearby accredited mammogram facility, please call the Adelphi New York Statewide Breast Cancer & Support Program at (800) 877-8077. Callers can ask questions or receive emotional support from the hotline’s specially trained volunteers—most of whom are women who have had breast cancer.
