

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

Betty Little

Altering Forest Preserve is rare, but it's necessary

BETTY LITTLE October 27, 2009

| ISSUE: ENERGY

Post Star Editorial

Posted: Friday, October 23, 2009 10:00 am

You'd think the last thing any loyal, tree-hugging environmentalist would support is a power line cut right through the Adirondack Forest Preserve.

But in a rare display of kinship between environmental groups, Adirondack community leaders and big business, they're supporting a statewide ballot proposition to run a three-mile electrical line through the environmentally sensitive state forest preserve to provide emergency power to the community of Tupper Lake.

To read more click HERE.