“It is a great accomplishment by our local students to have their works displayed with others from across the state,” said Senator Seward. “We have so many talented students and teachers throughout the 51st district and it is exciting to see their artistic creations first hand.”

Art work on display in the Well of the Legislative Office Building is by:

Cairo Elementary 5th graders Carmine Galtieri, Cheyenne Robinson

“The annual Albany art show is a wonderful way to recognize our students’ artistic achievement. The show is proof-positive of the importance of enrichment programs like art in developing well rounded students,” Seward concluded.

The exhibit is organized annually by the New York State Art Teachers Association in partnership with the New York State Alliance for Arts Education in collaboration with state legislators to showcase the artistic achievements of students at the elementary through high school levels.
