Senator Fuschillo, County Executive Mangano, and Nassau Police Help Local Residents “Shed the Meds”

CHARLES J. FUSCHILLO JR. August 16, 2010

Program Collects Over 300 Pounds of Expired or Unwanted Medications for Safe Disposal

Residents from all across the south shore brought over 300 pounds of expired and unwanted medications for safe disposal through a “Shed the Meds” program sponsored by New York State Senator Charles J. Fuschillo, Jr. (R-Merrick), Nassau County Executive Ed Mangano, and the Nassau County Police Department.

The program enabled residents to safely dispose of their expired or unwanted medications. Throwing out medications improperly by flushing them in the toilet or pouring them down the drain leads to pollution of local waterways.

In addition to protecting the environment, the “Shed the Meds” program helped keep medications out of the hands of young children or others who would use them improperly. All medications collected through the program were taken by the Nassau County Police Department for safe disposal.
