Borough Taxis: Let the City Know What You Think!

MARTIN J. GOLDEN March 15, 2011

| ISSUE: TRANSPORTATION

You may have heard about the Mayor's proposal to establish a new category of livery cars that can make on-street pickups outside of Manhattan just like yellow cabs do. It will give many New Yorkers a safe, reliable and convenient option for getting around. The program aims to improve taxi availability while bringing yellow-taxi-like amenities (e.g., metered fares, credit/debit card payment, easier-to-spot cabs) to the Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens, and Staten Island.

The City wants to hear from residents about your experiences with taxis and car services and has developed a brief online survey where your voice can be heard. Let them know what you think at <http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/NYCTaxiSurvey>
