

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

Joseph E. Robach

Community Connection for Week Ending June 26th

JOSEPH E. ROBACH June 24, 2011

diagnosis, and treatment. This bill will save tens of thousands of dollars in out-of-pocket expenses spent by families caring for individuals with autism and address insurance companies' refusal to cover costs for autism treatments and therapies. Autism Spectrum Disorders affect individuals of all ethnic, racial, and socioeconomic groups. The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) estimates that 1 in 110 children, including 1 in 70 boys, are currently affected by autism. If you would like to review more detailed information regarding this new piece of legislation, visit my website.	take place around the district. You can find this information on my website in the coming days. On Wednesday night, Concerts By the Shore features the music of the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra. The concert is free and begins at 7:00 p.m. at Ontario Beach Park. You might want to give yourself a little extra time getting there as this performance annually draws a large crowd.
Brighton High School, Greece Odyssey Academy Recognized by Newsweek Earlier this week, Newsweek 	Also on Wednesday night, at Lakeshore Country Club, the Kiwanis Club of Greece will celebrate its 70th Anniversary

In this week's community connection, the Senate passes landmark autism insurance reform, Newsweek recognizes two high schools in the district, and upcoming events around the district this week.

As always, you can download a full-screen version by clicking the link below.