Event to Feature Nearly 50 Employers

Job seekers will have an opportunity to talk with nearly 50 employers next week at State Senator Patty Ritchie's annual Oswego County Job Fair.

The free event will take place Wednesday June 4th from 11 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the Fulton War Memorial. Those looking for work are encouraged to bring their resumes.

"From opportunities for new graduates to jobs for people looking to reenter the workforce, my upcoming Oswego County Job Fair will feature a number of employers that are looking to hire now for a wide variety of positions," said Senator Ritchie.

"In the past, my job fairs have been successful in matching up employers and job seekers. Once again, I'm looking forward to helping make Central New Yorkers aware of the exciting opportunities available in our region."

Last year, more than 250 people looking for work attended Senator Ritchie's Oswego County Job Fair. Senator Ritchie encourages those who aren't able to make the upcoming event to access her Online Jobs Bank, available here.
