Vincent's Eagle Scout project was to totally refurbish the unfinished attic of the Museum's barn so that it could be repurposed and used as the museum's new anthropology lab. The project took approximately six months of work to complete.

Senator Martins joined with Vincent and his family, Science Museum staff, Troop 71 leaders, Plandome Manor Mayor Barbara Donno and Supervisor Judi Bosworth's representative Rachel Brinn at the unveiling and dedication of the new room.
