

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

William T. Stachowski

Senator Stachowski and the West Seneca radio dispatch system

WILLIAM T. STACHOWSKI March 30, 2009

The Town of West Seneca Police have long battled an invisible enemy — an outdated radio dispatch system. This lifeline between residents, motorists and the police is vital to public safety, and key to responding to life and death emergencies. The West Seneca Police asked for my assistance in updating their radio communications and Senator Stachowski was able to deliver $100,000 over the last three years to revamp the aging system
