

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

John J. Flanagan

Long Island State Veterans Home Benefits & Resource Event For Veterans

JOHN J. FLANAGAN May 22, 2012

| ISSUE: VETERANS

The LONG ISLAND STATE'S VETERANS HOME - in conjunction with the Suffolk County Veterans Service Agency - is hosting a free BENEFITS & RESOURCES EVENT FOR VETERANS

Saturday, June 2, 2012 from 1 pm to 4 pm

at the Long Island State Veterans Home located at 100 Patriots Road in Stony Brook on the campus of Stony Brook University Hospital (follow the signs)

Please click here for a map and directions

The event will include representatives from the

Suffolk County Veterans Services Agency

Northport VA Medical Center

Suffolk County Office of the Aging

Suffolk County Department of Social Services

United Veterans Beacon House

Town of Brookhaven

The Mental Health Alliance

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs at Calverton

VA Homeless Veterans Services, legal counsel regarding Aid & Attendance benefits, financial benefits representatives, and other service and health care providers will be present.

Onsite enrollment for health benefits will be available, as well as on-site photo IDs, resources for the new generation of veterans from Iraq and Afghanistan, and information on the new Brookhaven Town job search tool (jobhaven.org) will be available.

Representatives from these and other agencies will be available to answer your questions and provide information regarding services and benefits available to veterans and their families from the greatest generation to the latest generation of those recently discharged.

For more information, please call the LISVH at 631-444-8606 or visit www.listateveteranshome.org