New York State Senator Michael Venditto (R, C, I- Massapequa), held a free senior citizen health fair at the Freeport Recreation Center. Hundreds of senior citizens from Baldwin to Lindenhurst were able to get various free health screenings and receive information about senior assistance programs and services from over 100 exhibitors. "I am glad we were able to provide these services to help our senior community. By bringing together all of these programs and free health screenings under one roof makes it easier and more convenient for our seniors to take advantage of them," said Senator Venditto.
