LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION memorializing Governor Andrew M. Cuomo to proclaim April 2016, as Distracted Driving Month in the State of New York

WHEREAS, It is the custom of this Legislative Body to recognize official months that are set aside to increase awareness of serious issues that affect the lives of citizens of New York State; and

WHEREAS, Attendant to such concern, and in full accord with its long-standing traditions, this Legislative Body is justly proud to memorialize Governor Andrew M. Cuomo to proclaim April 2016, as Distracted Driving Month in the State of New York, in conjunction with the observance of National Distracted Driving Month; and

WHEREAS, The best way to end distracted driving is to educate all Americans about the danger it poses; and

WHEREAS, Distracted driving is broadly defined to be any instance where a driver diverts his or her attention from the task of driving to another activity; and

WHEREAS, In 2014, 3,179 people were killed, and 431,000 were injured in motor vehicle crashes involving distracted drivers; and

WHEREAS, Ten percent of all drivers 15 to 19 years-old involved in fatal crashes were reported as distracted at the time of the crashes; this age group has the largest proportion of drivers who were distracted at the time of the crashes (NHTSA); and

WHEREAS, At any given daylight moment across America, approximately 660,000 drivers are using cell phones or manipulating electronic devices while driving, a number that has held steady since 2010 (NOPUS); and

WHEREAS, Five seconds is the average time your eyes are off the road while texting; when traveling at 55mph, that is enough time to cover the length of a football field blindfolded (2009, VTTI); and

WHEREAS, The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates that crashes caused by distracted driving cost the United States approximately $175 billion per year, this is roughly $148 per every American; and

WHEREAS, In 2015, six billion text messages were sent every day in the United States; and

WHEREAS, A 2015 Erie Insurance distracted driving survey reported that drivers do all sorts of dangerous things behind the wheel including brushing teeth and changing clothes; the survey also found that one-third of drivers admitted to texting while driving, and three-quarters saying they have seen others do it (ERIE INSURANCE); and

WHEREAS, Because text messaging requires visual, manual, and cognitive attention from a driver, it is by far the most alarming distraction; and

WHEREAS, It is imperative that there be greater public awareness on the dangers of distracted driving, and more must be done to increase activity at the local, state and national levels; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That this Legislative Body pause in its deliberations to memorialize Governor Andrew M. Cuomo to proclaim April 2016, as Distracted Driving Month in the State of New York; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this Resolution, suitably engrossed, be transmitted to The Honorable Andrew M. Cuomo, Governor of the State of New York.
