BRONX, NY – State Senator Jeff Klein (D-Bronx/Westchester) and Assemblyman Mark Gjonaj (D-Bronx), together with P.S. 105, the Pelham Parkway Neighborhood Association, The Allerton International Merchants and the White Plains Road BID, hosted the fourth annual Pelham Parkway Halloween Party on Saturday at P.S. 105.

Hundreds of Bronx children and families enjoyed the Halloween extravaganza, which featured Halloween games and activities and a variety of treats. During the celebration, guests danced to music children had their faces painted with elaborate designs. Every child received a special trick-or-treat bag filled with candy and coloring books.

“Our annual Halloween party has become a long-standing tradition, and every year I look forward to hosting this fun-filled event for the community with Assemblyman Gjonaj. We enjoyed quality time with our families and friends and created lasting memories,” said Senator Klein.

“Halloween is a time for fun and games and I happy to once again join Senator Klein to provide a safe environment for our children and families,” said Assemblyman Gjonaj.
