

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

Elaine Phillips

Senator Phillips Joins Port Washington Community in Supporting Hero Officer Injured in the Line of Duty

ELAINE PHILLIPS February 23, 2017

| ISSUE: POLICE

Senator Elaine Phillips (R-Manhasset) recently joined with the Port Washington community at an event in support of a Port Washington Police Officer who was seriously injured in the line of duty.

The Port Washington Police Benevolent Association hosted a blood drive to support Officer Michael McNulty, who suffered severe injuries while aiding the Port Washington Fire Department in a rescue. Officer McNulty is still in the hospital and will need several additional major surgeries.

Local residents came out in large numbers to support the event and Officer McNulty, donating over 250 pints of blood. Some patiently waited in line for up to two hours to donate.

Senator Phillips (center) is pictured with (l-r) retired Port Washington Police Officer Tracy DioGuardi, Port Washington Police Commissioner Angela Mullins, Port Washington Police Deputy Chief Robert DelMuro and Port Washington Police Assistant Chief Jeffrey Morris.