Over the last 3 years Senator Rich Funke (R,C,I-Fairport) has partnered with the History Channel and Spectrum to host the annual Take a Veteran to School Program. This year Funke is hosting the event at Honeoye Falls-Lima Middle School to celebrate veterans & bring history to life in the classroom.

Take a Veteran to School is a nationwide partnership between the History Channel and cable providers, like Spectrum, to strengthen ties between students and local veterans, bringing a different perspective of history through the eyes of a veteran.

“I look forward to this event every year. As we approach Veterans Day, it’s a unique opportunity to be able to watch the interactions between the students and the panel of Veterans we have here today,” said Funke. “I can’t think of a better way to honor those who have selflessly served our nation than by giving these outstanding local veterans an opportunity to inspire the next generation. I’m proud to be partnering with the History Channel and Spectrum to bring such a shining example of patriotism, strength and determination to the classroom.”

In advance of Veterans Day is this weekend, Funke hosted the event to recognize and celebrate the contributions made by all veterans, to inspire young people of all ages. This year’s panel included U.S. Army veteran Jeremy Nichols, U.S. Army veteran Michael Buckpitt, and U.S. Marine Corps veteran Roderick Castle. The panel took the opportunity to share their personal experiences and ended with a question and answer segment.
