WHITE PLAINS, NY – On Wednesday, Oct. 16, Senate Majority Leader Andrea Stewart-Cousins and State Senator Shelley B. Mayer held a Town Hall in White Plains at The Thomas H. Slater Center to share the achievements and challenges of the 2019 Legislative Session.

The White Plains Town Hall was the State Senators' final one in a series scheduled in Westchester County before they return to Albany. Attendees including State Assemblyman David Buchwald and Westchester County Executive George Latimer had the opportunity to hear from the State Senators about laws passed this year in Albany and how they will impact Westchester communities.

Local residents shared their support of and concerns for a wide range of issues including:

Vaping

High cost of prescription drugs

Seniors

The School Tax Relief (STAR) program

Healthcare

Mental health and substance abuse

Pending closure of Mount Vernon Hospital

Together with their colleagues, Leader Stewart-Cousins and Senator Mayer were able to deliver historic reforms that New Yorkers had been demanding for years, including tougher gun laws, affordable housing and tenant protections, voting and ethics reforms, action on climate change, and stronger protections for women's rights.

Senate Majority Leader Andrea Stewart-Cousins said, "This Town Hall gave Senator Shelley Mayer and me the chance to hear directly from Westchester residents and ensure they can learn about the historic actions we took in Albany to tear down barriers and create opportunities for all New Yorkers. I am so pleased to see civic engagement is a priority for my constituents, and I am grateful to everyone who attended. My number one concern is listening to residents across the 35th State Senate District and throughout the state and working to ensure we address their priorities over the next Legislative Session."

State Senator Shelley B. Mayer (D-Westchester) said, "I am glad to continue co-hosting substantive Town Hall events with Majority Leader Andrea Stewart-Cousins to discuss our legislative accomplishments during the 2019 Legislative Session. Hearing from constituents is an essential part of representing their concerns and aspirations in Albany. For anyone who was not able to attend the Town Halls, my door is always open in my District Office in Port Chester to meet with me or one of my staff members and discuss the relevant concerns in your community."
