Last month, State Senator Joseph P. Addabbo, Jr. visited his alma mater high school, Archbishop Molloy High School, for its annual Alumni Night sponsored by the school's Badges Network. During the event, Addabbo recognized the evening's honoree, John Diorio, who taught more than 17,000 students — including Addabbo — at Molloy for 59 years.
