Dear Neighbor,

After years of advocacy by nurses around staffing levels in hospitals, and in light of the COVID-19 pandemic, I brought stakeholders to the table to hammer out a resolution to this decade old issue. Last week, in honor of National Nurses Week, the Legislature passed legislation to establish hospital protocols for determining staff levels, and it was the result of those efforts. In addition, nursing home legislation passed last week sets staffing standards for those facilities. This legislation was a long time coming, but truly essential. Nurses care for our loved ones, and bring comfort to so many families. They are truly selfless.

Further, the New York Hero Act, which I supported and passed was signed into law. This legislation makes New York the first state in the Nation to establish comprehensive safety and health standards to protect essential workers from infection and from retaliation for raising safety concerns at work. I want to thank the unions, advocacy and business groups who worked on this legislation.

As we look ahead to reopening, some important updates I would like to share with you. On Wednesday, May 19th - New York will be part of a regionally-coordinated reopening with New Jersey and Connecticut. Capacity limits will be fully lifted for retail stores, restaurants, bars, gyms, fitness centers, recreational venues, hair salons, offices, and
