During these events, Addabbo will be standing outside of a local establishment handing out New York State hand sanitizers where residents can chat with their Senator about local issues in their communities.

“These events are a great way for me to not only meet one-on-one with my constituents and hear directly from them the problems and issues they are facing in their communities, but to help them stay protect from COVID-19 and the Delta Variant by giving out free hand sanitizers,” Addabbo explained. “I am always looking for new ways to stay engaged with constituents, and I hope to see many people come say hello when I am in your neighborhood.”
