

NEW YORK STATE SENATOR

Anna M. Kaplan

New Law Combats Housing Discrimination In New York Through Improved Education For Real Estate Professionals

ANNA M. KAPLAN December 22, 2021

| ISSUE: FAIR HOUSING, CONSUMER PROTECTION, CIVIL RIGHTS, FIGHTING RACISM, REAL ESTATE INDUSTRY

Bill by Senator Anna M. Kaplan mandates anti-bias training for real estate professionals to combat the type of discriminatory behavior uncovered by Newsday's "Long Island Divided" investigation series

Click here to download HD Video and full-res photos of Senator Kaplan speaking on the bill from the Senate Chamber. ALSO: Click here to download video of exchanges between Senator Kaplan and real estate professionals on the topic of implicit bias during hearings on housing discrimination

CARLE PLACE, NY (December 21, 2021) - Today, Governor Kathy Hochul signed a package of legislation combating housing discrimination across Long Island and New York State, including legislation by Senator Anna M. Kaplan (D-North Hills) requiring real estate brokers and salespersons to undergo training on implicit bias as part of their license renewal process. The legislation was crafted following the publication of Newsday's "Long Island Divided" investigation, and public hearings on housing discrimination held by the State Senate, which found evidence of widespread discrimination against minority homebuyers on Long Island.

"For too long, the dream of owning a home has been out of reach for too many New Yorkers because of discrimination and bigotry," said Governor Hochul. "When intrepid investigative journalists uncovered housing discrimination in New York, we took action to end this unacceptable practice. I'm proud to sign strong new laws expanding access to fair housing and allowing more New Yorkers to achieve the American dream of owning their homes."

Senator Anna M. Kaplan said "Newsday's "Long Island Divided" investigation series made it very clear that we have a problem on Long Island when it comes to the unequal treatment of minority homebuyers, and better training for real estate professionals must be part of the solution. By training real estate salespeople to understand their own implicit biases, and helping them to rise above them, we can ensure that the American Dream of homeownership is protected for all Long Island families. I'm grateful for Newsday's role in documenting the extent of the problem facing our community, and I'm thankful for Governor Kathy Hochul's leadership to deliver opportunity for all New York families."

Following hours of testimony by real estate professionals in hearings held by the State Senate, including some who were compelled by subpoena, it became apparent that many of the individuals who had been found to be engaging in discriminatory conduct were unaware of the negative impact of their actions on minority homebuyers, demonstrating a problem of unaddressed implicit bias.

Legislation by Senator Kaplan addressing the issue of implicit bias, S.538B, will:

- Require all real estate brokers and salespeople to receive at least two hours of instruction pertaining to implicit bias awareness and understanding as part of their license renewal process every two years.
- More background, and video of hearings on this topic available here

In November 2019, Newsday released an investigative report proving that Black home buyers were being discriminated against. Their report found that real estate agents provided an average of 50 percent more listings than they gave to black counterparts – 39 compared with 26.

The new law will take effect in 180 days.

RELATED LEGISLATION

2021-S538B

Real Estate, real estate agents, Real Estate Brokers, Implicit bias, Real Estate Industry

- Introduced

- - In Committee Assembly
 - In Committee Senate

- - On Floor Calendar Assembly
 - On Floor Calendar Senate

- - Passed Assembly
 - Passed Senate

- Delivered to Governor

- Signed By Governor

-

Requires real estate brokers and salespersons to receive implicit bias training as part of their license renewal process

January 04, 2021

Signed by Governor

Sponsored by Anna M. Kaplan

Do you support this bill?