Gateway Youth Outreach will work with the Argo Civic in a beautification project and an effort to get youth involved in civic work. Argo Civic has reached out to the Elementary school age children in the past. This year they want to expand their citizenship award program with a beautification program where young people of the community can help senior citizens and the Argo civic community in keeping it clean and beautify it during the spring and summer, when most children are out of school. This program is open to 20 children from the community of Argo Civic and Elmont where they live. This one time funding will help in the purchase of equipment and open a place for more children to participate in a youth activity over the summer. This is in the hope that the youth of the community would take pride in their surroundings and helping the community by keeping it clean. This is a need since this particular area of Elmont has 2 schools in close proximity and the children often do not pick up after themselves as they eat food purchased from local shopping areas. Volunteers from the Argo Civic,

Description of Project:

Funding would be used for the creation of a wetlands map. In cooperation with local school districts the Town of North Hempstead would construct an area, adjacent to Town's West Shore Road Public Works Yard, where school buses and commercial vehicles could be parked out of sight and in a safe manor. The subject area relates to land previously owned by Nassau County that was turned over to the Town as part of an intermunicipal parks and roads consolidation. At least 10 acres of that land is to be preserved as open space and pursuant to a condition made that no housing could be constructed in the subject area. It is crucial that the town protect any wetlands that are found to exist in the area. The mapping will protect wetlands discovered to be located on the property.

The Town of North Hempstead is working with Residents for a More Beautiful Port Washington in initiating a new Clean Green Zone on Main Street in Port Washington. The project area will start small, stretching along eight blocks from Port Washington Boulevard to Mackey Avenue. This project asks local merchants to take responsibility for keeping the streets in front of their shops clean and being more eco-friendly inside their stores as well. Since there are a diverse array of stores, shops, and food establishments, this funding will be used to purchase different recycling bins for each entity to accommodate the needs of each store in order to properly collect the recyclables.

Funding would go toward senior transportation for the town-wide Project Independence Program. The Town of North Hempstead is expanding its ground-breaking aging-in-place initiative, Project Independence. This program, which began in New Hyde Park, has been tremendously successful in supporting the town's aging residents to remain in their own homes and familiar communities, as they grow older. Project Independence will provide social work assessments, nursing services to help seniors maintain and monitor health and medications, intergenerational activities, and volunteer services. One of the major senior barriers on Long Island is transportation. Funding would provide for medical transportation services to seniors throughout the town who have no other means of getting to doctors' or treatment appointments.

Funding for scales for a School Recycling Program. The Town of North Hempstead's School Recycling Program is an ambitious town-wide program targeting eleven school districts in the Town. So far eight school districts have signed on. The Town has committed significant funds to providing the preliminary materials necessary for school recycling. Every classroom has received two recycling bins with specialized lids, one bin for collecting commingled recyclables and the other for mixed paper. In addition to purchasing the bins for the schools, the Town has contracted with a private carter to provide two dumpster units for each school building and routinely brings recyclables to the Town transfer station.

An important element of the program is the student's involvement. The students will take responsibility for the gathering, measuring and reporting the results of the recyclables that they have collected. This makes the students partners in the program and conscious about the decisions that they
