

What Are You Thankful For?

You never truly know what you're thankful for because there's so many events or things that happen in your life that make you thankful every day. Even though there's so many things to be thankful for I do know I'm thankful for my family. They have been the biggest support for me this year. I have conquered many goals as well as gone through many unfortunate events. But no matter what was going on they were always there for me every step of the way, I could never thank them enough for all they do in my life they are such an amazing family that I will always be thankful for.

Another thing I'm thankful for is education. Without education I would not be where I am today, none of us would be. Education is a huge part of your life that takes you through your career. My goal is to become a professional pastry chef and open my own business. Without the education and resources that is provided for me I wouldn't be able to pursue my dream that I've had since I was 3 years old. Education has gotten me through so much in my life, for inference school the more I learn the better I get at new things like math, science and health. I can't wait to see what other things I learned in life to help me become a better learner and to help me succeed in my career!

The last thing I'm thankful for are my friends. I recently moved here in 2020 and had no one to talk to, until day one of 6th grade and I made a close friend named Lauren who is still my friend to this day! She has always been there for me and I will never forget the first day of school with her and how she helped me through the years. All my friends have been there for me in the toughest times of my life, but also they have been there to help guide me through school. School has always been a struggle but with them it's gotten so much easier to handle and understand. I do want to thank another special friend who truly means the most to me her name is Bella. I met her in 7th grade and ever since we have been best friends, she has been there for me so much. But me and Bella are so much closer and share everything with each other. Me and her connection is like family and when you have this connection you never want to lose it. I'm so happy to be a part of everyone's lives to this day and I can not wait to be a part of so many more!

As stated before you never really know what you're thankful for because everyday new things happen that make you very thankful. But I do know that my family, friends, and education are one of my top things I'm thankful for. Without any of this I don't know who I'd be, or where my career path would lead to. I'm very happy to have them in my life and to show me what true friendship and family is like. They all have had a huge impact on me in so many ways that make me happy and I hope that it continues for the rest of my life. This is what I'm most truly thankful for in my life today as a sophomore at Barker Central School District.
