

Qualities I am Thankful for

I am thankful for my qualities because they give me my personality. Some of my qualities are being helpful, smart, calm, and funny. I use my qualities for school and home because my qualities are skills only I can do. For example, when I struggle on a problem at school or on my homework I use my qualities calm and smart to stay calm understand the problem then solve it. My qualities are what make me who I am. The last reason I am thankful for my qualities is because they help me get through the day and that makes me truly thankful.
