

Rihyana Powell

11/18/24

Lea Webb's Gratitude Program

In quiet moments, it awakens.

A silent force, strung by the fabric of life.

Gratitude lies not in grand moments, but in a touch,

A glance,

A simple sign.

Its presence is never-ending, quiet, yet felt profoundly.

In a loved one's embrace,

In the shared laughter,

In always looking on the bright side,

Gratitude resides, shining its bright shine ever so selflessly.

Behind the beauty in simply being,

Lying in the strings of a loved one,

Complementing the gentle quiet of living,

Gratitude binds us.

It is all that we control.