

What are you thankful for?

I'm quite grateful for a few things, however I'm incredibly grateful for friends, family, a home, and food. I'm incredibly grateful for my friends because they've helped me through more things than I can imagine. My friends have helped through countless challenges, and I'm grateful for their support. They've also made me happier throughout the years and supported me during tough times. Although I only have a couple close friends I'm incredibly grateful for all of them. I also dearly appreciate my family because they've helped me grow and taken care of me. They have provided many things for me as well. Another thing I'm thankful for is having a home because some people aren't able to have one. I'm also incredibly grateful for everything inside my home because again some people aren't as fortunate. Furthermore, this also brings me to the last thing I listed that I'm grateful for which is food. Again some people aren't able to get as much food as others. Additionally, although I'm thankful for many things, these are the most important ones to me.
