These Are Three Things I'm Thankful For.

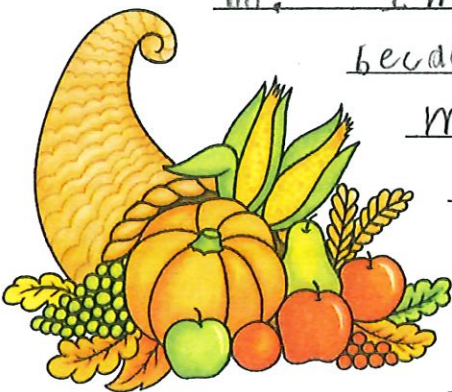

By Adam Aronov

In 1620 the Wampanoag and the Pilgrims celebrated the first harvest with a feast. Some consider this the first Thanksgiving. But it wasn't. Thanksgiving didn't become an official holiday until 1863. Abraham Lincoln made it an official holiday. Today we celebrate it on the fourth Thursday in November. My family doesn't celebrate Thanksgiving. I'm thankful for my family, my friends and my school.

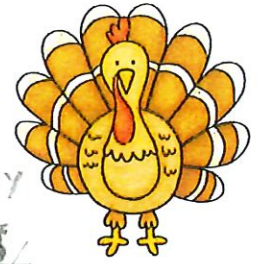

I'm grateful for my family. I'm grateful for my mom because she always makes me food. My favorite is macaroni and chesse. She never screams at me. She takes me to and from school. She also buys me food at her work. I'm thankful to my dad because he always spends time with me during the holidays. He also lets me play on his phone a little bit. I'm thankful to my brother because he is always playing with me. We play cards, Monopoly, video games, wars. He also talks with me.

I'm thankful for my friends. They play gaga ball with me. We also play football.

USUALLY When I'm playing football I'm just walking around the ball, but yesterday it wasn't like that. Yesterday, I was the best player, yesterday I got 3 goals in a row. The first time when I scored a goal, I said to Jacob that I'll never get goals before and he gave me a high five. The second time he said I'm playing fire or something like that. The third time the whole team gave me high fives. Then recess was over, our team won with a score of 4:0. I have many good friends Jack, Jacob, Benji, Sam, Sarah, Rosa, Abby, Abigail and Aaron. Benji is always talking to me. For example he asked me who I voted for and what I was writing about. I'm grateful for all my friends.

I'm grateful for my school, I have many good friends. I'm thankful for my teachers. Morah Michelle is teaching me math. She is teaching us easier ways to remember what to do. I know addition, subtraction, multiplication and division but she is teaching us to use D.M.S.R.R. to remember the steps in division, In reading, she is reading us a book and we are answering questions. In science, she is making us observe mealworms and write about them. Morah Rachel is teaching us how to pray, the parsha, she also goes to lunch with us too. Morah Shayna is taking me to mechina and we are learning in a fun way. My favorite part of the school is recess because we are playing fun games.
