My Thankful Essay

by, Michael Danilov

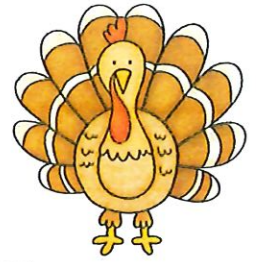

Abraham Lincoln made Thanksgiving an official holiday in 1863. On Thanksgiving our tradition is we eat turkey, mashed potatoes, steak and more. We also say what we are thankful for while we are sitting at the table. I am thankful for my family, house, and friends.

I am so grateful for my family. My mom is very helpful. She is helpful because every time I ask her to help with my homework and with projects she always helps. She also checks my temperature when I'm sick, and even more! My dad is very kind and always helps me build with legos and more. I appreciate my 2 brothers, Benjamin and Daniel. Benjamin and Daniel always do fun stuff with me. For example, we always go somewhere on Saturday nights.

I am so thankful for my friends. My friend Joey is so funny. I always laugh when he says something funny. Joey is fun to talk to because he talks about interesting stuff. My other friend Mendel loves having playdates with me. I also love having playdates with him. He also really likes soccer and I love playing soccer with him. Every time he wants to play and so do I.

I am very thankful for my house. One reason I am thankful for my house is because when it rains I'm safe from the rain pouring down on me. I am also thankful for my house because I can always watch TV. I am thankful for my house because I can sleep on my bed when I want to. I like sleeping because it's relaxing.

Thanksgiving became an official holiday in 1863. On Thanksgiving we should remember our ancestors and be thankful for everything in the world. We should all be thankful for our family on Thanksgiving because they help with every single thing. Family, my house and friends are three things I am thankful for.
