

Thankful

November is a month when we celebrate and reflect on things we are thankful for. There are many things in my life that fill me with gratitude. These are my family and friends. These 2 things are what I am grateful for in my life. I can remember the good memories that I've had with them as well.

I am thankful for my family for all the support they can provide me. They can always tell whenever I am feeling off. They are always there for me, and make sure I am safe at all times. My family doesn't probably know this, but they're the reason I don't give up most of the time. A special memory with my family is when last year, we went to Six flags before school had started. My family wanted to take the time to spend time with each other because of how busy most of us are and how I would start being more busy with going into middle school. I am grateful that my family took the time for all of us to have fun, and it will be a time I will never forget.

I am grateful to my friends for always being by my side when I was new here. A special memory with my friends is last year near the end of school, we went on a field trip to the white castle and played tons of games there. We had so much fun, and for it being the first year at my new school, they made my first year so much better. I am grateful that I met them in my life.

Both my family and friends I am grateful for because of the same reason, both being by my side and supporting me in any way. My family and friends are something that I will always cherish and have in my memories.
