Thankful

By Eleanor Fisher

There are many things around me that I am thankful for. The first thing I am most thankful for is my mother. The second thing I am most thankful for is my grandfather. The third and final thing I am thankful for is grandmother. I am thankful for these people for many reasons.

I am really thankful for my mother. I am thankful because of how loving my mom is and how caring she is. My mother cares for me in many different ways. One way she cares for me is by helping me with my homework when I need it. Another way my mother cares for me is she takes care of me when I am sick or not feeling well.

I am thankful for my grandfather. I am thankful for my grandfather because he is special to me and so kind. He is so many things. He is nice, caring, and funny. My grandfather would do anything for our family and the people he loves. He has helped so many people just because he is that kind. I am so very thankful for my grandfather.

I'm thankful for my grandmother. My grandmother is very loving and spoils me. My grandmother always makes sure I am doing well. She also makes sure I always feel loved, and she never leaves me out of things I want to do. My grandmother also makes sure to celebrate when I do things well.

These are the reasons why I am grateful for my mother, grandfather, and grandmother. They always make me feel loved and welcome. They are very loving people. They love me, and I love them for everything they do for me. These, again, are all the reasons I am grateful for these people in my life.
