

What I Am Thankful For

I am grateful for three things. Those three things are my dad, football, and my family and friends.

I am thankful for my dad because he is always caring. He provides me with love and everything I need. We always have fun, and he is the best cook/barbecue maker ever.

The second thing I'm thankful for is football because it is something my dad and I can talk about and have fun doing. Football is something I can escape to and not think about anything but it. When I'm on the football field, I'm not thinking about school, my friends, my family, or girls. I'm just focusing on who I'm going to hit.

The last thing I am thankful for is my family and friends. They are always there for me. We always have fun, and we can talk about all kinds of things and not be bored.

These are the three things I am thankful for and why. I am thankful to have them in my life.
