

What Am I Grateful For?
By Maria Medina

I'm grateful for my parents, my sister, and my friends.

I'm grateful for my parents. They always try to spend time with us because even though they are always busy and have full time work, they always try their best to take us to the park and take us to buy some food and clothes for us. Also, I'm grateful to them that they have patience with us when we are in a bad mood.

I'm grateful for my sister. She always makes me laugh and helps me do the chores. When our parents are not home, we always work together to do the chores, and we always work together on cooking.

I'm grateful for my friends. They always hang out with me and eat with me. I'm grateful for them because when I am in a bad mood, they always make me happy, and they are always fun to be around with even though sometimes they embarrass one of our friends.

We all have people and animals to be thankful for because when we feel sad and upset, we always have them, and we are grateful that they are here.
