

Emuna Sufrin

What I'm grateful for

I'm grateful for my family and friends. Through the ups and downs they're never hateful. They never frown at me even when I'm being ungrateful. When I'm a handful they show me love and kindness. Through my happiness they're there. Through my sadness they're there. I'm there through theirs too. Who could ever ask for more. They'll never bore me. They always see me in the best possible light. No height seems impossible when I'm with them. The sight of them makes me smile. They always go the extra mile for me. You could see that I'm the best possible version of myself when I'm with them. They never test my abilities because they like me just the way I am. They say only nice things to me. There's no way I could ever thank them enough. It's tough to show people how much you care about them hopefully this is enough.