

Thankful Poem

I love God for he is the one who brings me joy when I have none. The things he gets me and places he takes me on the journeys we go on are like musical symphonies. Playing in my ears, showing me the difference with God and without him. He tells me what is right and what is wrong. He helps me get out of the times when I feel alone with no one to turn to. When I'm not with God it feels like I'm trapped in a room with no one to help or guide me. But with God he is always helping, telling me where to go. He is truly a master of trying to help you and bring you peace. If he helps me, he will help you unless you don't believe in him or use his name wrong God Loves us you just need to love him.

Ethan Wagner
ELA

11/8/2024
Thankful