

O.L.S.S

The quality that I have that I am thankful for is being inclusive. I am patient, respectful, supportive, always listen, allow others to speak and express themselves. I give everyone full attention by being sensitive and I don't interrupt or over-talk people. Everyone is treated as an equal and I always help when needed. I try to adapt so I can connect better with different people.

I feel that by being inclusive, it makes others feel confident and inspired. They are not alone, being judged or by themselves. My quality shows appreciating diversity, equality and equity, cooperativeness, participation, community and sustainability. This is important for education and in life.

In the classroom we need to fully participate and be a team to get the best education. Everything runs better when we act as a team. By doing this as students, we can solve problems, set goals, make decisions and self advocate is valued and developed. This is why I am thankful for being inclusive.
