What Qualities Do I Have That I Am Thankful For?

Some qualities that I have are being responsible, kind, loyal, appreciative, helpful, respectful. I am thankful for being responsible because when I have a task or something to do I do it and I do not leave it for any other time. The reason I am thankful for being kind is because I speak to people kindly, and I can be kind to people even if they are mean. I am also thankful for being loyal, the reason I am thankful for being loyal is because people can tell me something like a secret or they can tell me something and say not to tell anyone and I will not say anything. The reason I am thankful for being appreciative is because sometimes when we must share something, and I would get the smaller piece I would be fine because I would not care if I got the smaller piece, I just care that I got something. I am thankful for being helpful because when I get to help someone, I feel kinder and I just love being helpful to whoever needs help on something. I am also thankful for being respectful because I do not have to get in trouble if I am respectful and, I do not like talking back to teachers or parents because I feel like a bad person. That are some qualities that I have that I am thankful for.
