

Nicholas Yampolsky
Ms. Nicole

11/14/23
Writing

Nick and Me

In this World there are billions of people, that have their own qualities. Qualities are the beautiful parts of you. Every person has their personality that makes them special and different. The qualities I am thankful for are my sense of humor, smart's, and athleticism.

The first quality I am thankful for is that I am funny. I make people laugh a lot, like my classmate Philipp. I make him laugh or smile, it makes my day. Spreading joy to others is a great skill to have in life.

The Second quality I am thankful for is my intelligence. In school, I will usually raise my hand and most of the time I am correct. Being smart helps me in life even though I am extremely energetic, but when needed I can focus. This is a good skill in life and will help me be successful later.

The third quality I am thankful for is being athletic. I think of myself as athletic because I am good at playing sports, such as soccer. My soccer skills are very good, I consider myself talented. My skills gave me the opportunity to travel, since I am on a travel team, one of the best parts is the way I make my family proud by getting alot of trophies.

The qualities I am thankful for are my athleticism which helps me play soccer. Something else I am thankful for is my intelligence and my funny personality. Just like me, many other people have qualities that makes them special. Their special qualiteis make the world a beautiful and Unique place. As do mine.