What I'm Thankful For

by Evalyn Akilov.

The first Thanksgiving feast was in 1621. The feast was three days long. I love Thanksgiving because we eat amazing delicious pumpkin pie and turkey. My mom makes the turkey extra crispy. The things I'm thankful for are family, water, food, clothes, God and Mazel Day School. I love my family so much. My parents make me always smile when I'm sad. My parents make the most wonderful delightful food. I'm thankful for my baby sitter because she helps me with homework and she taught me so many things. For example, she taught me Russian. I have the best cousins because they play games with me and I'm never bored when I'm with them. I love my brothers because they teach me how to play sports and help me with my Hebrew homework. Finally I love my grandparents because they make me happy and play games with me.

I'm thankful I have what I need to stay healthy.

We need water to stay healthy and hydrated.

We need food to grow and get stronger.

We have clothes so we can cover our body and not be cold. I'm thankful for God because he can do anything.

I appreciate Mazel Day School. I appreciate my best friend Sara because she is always there for me when I'm sad or when I'm not feeling well. I'm thankful for my friend

Ivanka because she always puts a smile on my face. Finally I'm grateful for my teachers and principal because they teach me all about life and what I need in the future. I appreciate my family, water, food, clothes, God and Mazel Day School. These are the most important things to me.
