What, why, And who I Am Grateful For

By Justin Cohen

In fourth grade I've learned many facts about Thanksgiving and here are some of them. The first Thanksgiving was a harvest for the natives. They thanked their god by fasting, but when the Pilgrims came they had a huge feast that lasted 3 days! Every Thanksgiving I go upstate with my family this year I am thankful for my mom, my friends, and my education.

I'm especially thankful for my mom because she is the reason I am alive. She also makes me the yummiest meals. My mom provides my family with all the things we need. She helps me with work and works hard to get money. That is why she is amazing!!!

I am also very grateful for my friends. My friend Mikey is always there for me when I need him. Joey motivates me to always try harder and get better. Josh is so energetic and self-confident which inspires me to be like that. Even though Lion is short that does not stop him from working harder which is cool to me. My friends mean a lot because they all have unique character traits.

The last thing I am grateful for is my education. I love my education because it will get me far in life.

Education is going to make me smarter which will help me get into a good college. This is how I will get a good job to acquire money, and have a good life. That is why I am grateful for my education.

Now I realize that I have so many things to be thankful for. My Mom, friends, and my education are three of the many things I'm thankful for. This Thanksgiving.
