

I am thankful

I remember how each year I gobbled down my turkey and potatoes, eating with no stop. So today I am grateful for all the things life has given me. All the friends I have made, the food on my plate, my house, my crazy family and so much more. I am thankful to be living in NYC and going to Simon Baruch middle school. So before I eat this delicious meal, I want to pray for all the people who may not be as lucky as we are today.

Thanksgiving is here
