

I AM GRATEFUL

In my life, I am grateful for many things.

Thank you for all the things that happened to me last year, I see how lucky I am. I don't know what I would have done if my parents announced me that we were going to move in to New York City. At first I was sad to leave my family and friends but after a second thought I am grateful to my parents to give me such an opportunity, to learn English, discover a new country and a new culture.

I am grateful to my previous teachers who taught me new things and prepared me for 6th grade and I am now really grateful to my new teachers in 6th grade. I don't know what I would have done without them.

In almost 3 months of 6th grade I feel kind of comfortable and sure I will reach the level of a native speaker by the end of the year. I am also very grateful to my new friends who welcomed me and make me laugh all day and to my little brother who brings joy in my home.

Last April my great-grandmother passed away and I was very sad but I am very thankful for having known her and spend so many time with her. She taught me many things.

I am also grateful to live in a nice country where I can think and say what I feel and to live in a good condition with no problems in my head and finally I thank God for keeping the people I love in good health. Thank You.
